I know that I am late with this I met Ash almost 20 years ago. She was my first true love back then and a close loving person to my family. I last saw Ash that November in 2017 which was shocking because we normally keep in touch or some how spot each other in the month of August. If I could say anything to her now. Thank you for all great memories, for walking in my life. I miss you a lot on this Earth thank you for the things you did for me to see growth in life. I will see you soon I love you.

“ I met Ashley 6 years ago, because Bri and my daughter Zoe bonded when they were about 4 years old after they met in their prek class. She and I clicked instantly. I was drawn to her because we were so similar in so many ways and her personality and humor was just like mine; it was like we were meant to be friends. Getting the news of her death was heartbreaking. Still is. I keep having this urge to text her to ask her what happened, is she ok; i know realistically she won't respond but it's just so hard to wrap my mind around the fact that she is no longer here. I know my pain does not even touch on what Bri and the rest of her family is going thru right now. Ash was a beautiful person, inside and out. She was a true friend, which is rare to find these days, she was someone i could vent to, she was someone i could call for girls night or a play date with the kids and it was literally non stop laughs while we were together. She was a lifetime friend and to not have her here with us so suddenly.....it takes my breath away. I would like Ash's mother to know that if there is ANYTHING i can to at all to ease any stress, pain, or just to help out in any way, i am here. You all will forever be in my prayers and heart and anytime little Bri needs to get out and have a day with friends, to have some sort of normal back in her world...we will be there.

*“ You will truly be missed. You were my girl scout buddy, a shoulder to cry on, and a great friend. You always knew the right things to say when I was down. Though you are gone from here , you will not be forgotten, love ya girl. It was a pleasure being your friend.

“ So very sorry about the loss of your daughter, Terry. Although I did not know Ashley, I know you. And, since you have a wonderful spirit, are hardworking, smart and family oriented I know Ashley as young as she was, was the same way. I know from personal experience that words can't take away the pain of your loss. But I know that God can comfort you and see you through. This is my prayer for you and your family.

“ I've known Ashley, since she and my daughter, Janelle Henry were the best of friends, when they attended Manchester High School (and, her brother TC, and my younger daughter, Holly Henry, were their junior Classmates). Ashley and Janelle were so close, that Janelle practically lived with the Smith Family during their senior year; and, they shared an apartment during their first semester of college. I'll never forget her sweet countenance and great smile; and, today (12/29/2017) her Mum, Terry, reminded me of her giggles, as well. My heart breaks for you, Terry, Mr. Smith, and TC; and, especially for Ashley's daughter, Brielle. I can never thank you enough for being there, as a second family for Janelle. I hope that we can be there, in some way for Brielle also, in the coming years. This evening, after going through the Monitor Merrimac Tunnel, and over the bridge, to attend her visitation, we saw the most beautiful, blazing sunset...I wish I could have captured it on film; but, I'll commit it to memory, and remember it as "Ashley's Sunset." Deepest condolences to all the Families... Eternal rest grant to Ashley, O Lord; and let light perpetual shine upon her. May her soul, and the souls of all the faithful departed, through the mercy of God, rest in peace.

“ It was always good times.... Ashley was always smiling, laughing, and loving! I still can't believe she is gone! An angel has returned to heaven to soon....my prayers, condolences,peace and blessings are wished for the family! There are no words that can ease the pain. You touched the life of everyone u knew.

Saying goodbye is the hardest thing to do

I never thought I would especially not to you, and definitely not this soon. You always listened and knew what to say knew when to give a hug if someone was having a bad day.

It's still so hard to believe that you are no longer her but know you'll always be missed. Love you Ashley!
