“ Now at peace and not in pain with the Father and Savior I saw you asking, seeking, and knocking for from the time I could understand. You loved as much as you knew how and were loved as much as you would receive. Now we'll be together in glory. Matt 7: 7-8. Love you. Farwell for now. 💔

“Daddy ,you were my first Earthly King, the first man I ever prayed for, the first man I ever danced with,the first man that ever broke my heart and the man that I compare every other man to. You made me into a living Baobab tree. You know about that resilient plant. It is thick and can thrive in the harshest desert. It's roots run for miles to find fresh water that actually flows when you cut the trunk. Because of this tree animals and people can survive. You though not always near me are one of my well springs . The things you taught me intentionally and unintentionally has helped me to survive things that would have crushed others. My daughters, son and granddaughters benefit from your water. You run through mine and my sister's viens and have benefited our progeny and communities . I learned to appreciate you in all your perfect imperfection. I'm glad our last words to one another were "I love you". Thank you again for being an awesome grandfather to my son when he had cancer surgery. I know your freedom is complete.Rest in Peace Daddy King rest in.peace.

“Barbara, soo many memories of Nelson!💜😄. Most who knew Nelson, knew he played Golf! Some, as me, also knew he played Racket Ball. Fiercely!!! This one, you & me know. Remember "The Love Boat & Bobbie Womack"! Nelson had a big Station Wagon. He would always put in a Bobby Womack tape and say, " sing it Bobby"! Every time he'd say that he'd turn his head and look at you. So I started calling the Station Wagon the "Love Boat"!🤔🤔🤔

“Dad, you lived an eventful life! You worked hard for all you achieved. Through it all, you remained true to your goals and the way you chose to live your life. We were never as close as we could have been, but we were always able to be honest with each other and keep it moving secure in our love for one another. May your rest be peaceful and may your spirit live on through your children, grandchildren, great grandchildren, and great, great grandchildren! You were more blessed than you will ever know! Here's you 28 years ago at my wedding. Love ya and know you're in Jesus's loving arms. Alice Nelson-Sidibe, daughter.

“Dad, I will forever miss our talks and your smart wit as we discussed the issue of the day. To Barbara and Kim and family, you all are my extended family. I am forever grateful for the care and love you gave him up until the end. Love Kathy Nelson Johnson
