“ I would like to thank everyone for their support at these troubling times

Bud there are no words to express how much I love you and how I work so hard to protect you although you kept telling me you were a man and saying “mom you and Ebony are too emotional”. My son I will always love you and the pain I’m carrying around not having you in my life is indescribable. I’m going to miss you taking my brush, showing me your chest and calling my phone everyday saying “ mom where you at ” it hurts to see your sisters pain you were here everything and someone took you away from her. I’m so sorry I wasn’t able to fix it I wish I was there to protect you if only I knew I was not going to see you anymore my love I would not have let you leave my house (although you looked very handsome). Bud I want you to know nothing can replace you and the pain I feel will never fade. I will never be okay without you but I will find strength to keep going for you. I will love you forever and ever my son.

I will see you in the sky

Love you my son, my everything, my joy, my Bud###imported-begin###April Small "peanut"###imported-end##

“ TO April, Cornell, and Ebbi when I received the phone call of Bud's passing I could not believe what was being told to me. I thought about the days in London when Bud was a little boy falling Eddi and us around playground like younger brothers do, that thought made me smile. We will never loose the memories and the love that we shared with Bud, he will be missed and our deepist respects to our extended family, Love you always Budwiser.##imported-begin##Gioia and Harold Kaid##imported-end##

“ For over a week I tried to think of a word to describe Bud, what I came up with is “irreplaceable”. The pain that my family is enduring is unimaginable. What I would give to see Bud’s smile again or just to hear him say “Dezi, let me use your car right quick”. Bud’s funny antics and especially the different dances will be missed. There will forever be a void left in all of our lives. Although I have told you before I didn’t get to tell you I loved you before you left. Rest in love baby boy
