“ Having a Courvoisier and cigar to celebrate Deborah's life. We had so much fun back in the day. The many laughs we shared, the long conversations, and the crazy and sometimes not so smart things we did. So many fond memories, but the times we spent night fishing on the old JRB are the tops. Peace and love.

“ I met Deborah many years ago when my now ex-husband joined her band. I would bake big batches of cookies for her to take on the road. I would go on trips with the band when I could. Deborah always made me feel welcome. We would take off and leave the guys at the hotels and go do girl stuff. I still am having trouble believing she's really gone. Her music touched so many people. I know I will always be grateful to have known her. We will meet again one day my friend.

“ No words can express the loss of life, truly. Her music and the family that were her strength remain. Namaste, such a beautiful life, may the same find her out there.
