“ I recall when I was stationed in Virginia at Little Creek. Big Fox would bring over James and Jesse they were lil young fellas then. I kept a cabinet with all sorts of snacks in it for them. So after the first time over when they would come to visit James eyes 🙄🙄 Looked exactly where that cabinet was at and of course I would give them extra (only when Big Fox wasn't looking) I think ??? So many more wonderful memories I could share but I will save them for another time. You rest James and know that you made one HELL of an Impact with the time you were here with us. Your Uncle Crayton 🙏🙏🙏

To the Fox Family. Sorry to perhaps open a wound that is still painful. I just learned of James passing a few weeks. I taught James at the Middle School about 3 years ago. Teen Living was his second class of the day!! James entered class each day with his own cheerful agenda. I allowed James to get his actions together then he could join in with us. Once I learned how to work with James, he did well!!! James was very smart , so I would always let him know how great his future could be. He was a "Beast" on the field. I wanted James to push through whatever it was that was his road block. His mom and I discussed James work habits often. Mr. Fox also took time out to work with James from his military duties. I am truly hurt to learn of James's passing. I searched every funeral home to find him. To the family, may God strengthen you each day. Then, I was also happy to read that Brody was still his friend. I taught both of those student. I would have been there to support you all, only had I known. Sorrowly, Ms. A.L. Custis- Retired Teen Living Teacher-Indian River Middle School
