“ To the family of Keith Cassell:

I wanted to leave you my condolences on the loss of someone so young. Though I do not know Mr. Cassell, I'm sure you was fine, outstanding individual. Here are a couple of scriptures to help you continue to find balance within yourselves and peace in your hearts.

First, I thought Ecclesiastes 9:5,6,11 would be the perfect scriptures you can read with your bible. They speak of those who die being in their graves and having no more wages to pay because they are no longer here. Verse 11 helps us to understand that these things happen because they are unforeseen occurrences that befall us all.

My final scripture can be found at Psalm 145:4. Here it reads:

" 4 His spirit goes out, he goes back to his ground;

In that day his thoughts do perish." In other words, those individuals who die return to dust. No confusion about what happens to them because it is clear in the scriptures what happens to us when we fall asleep in death. However, again Jesus, under Jehovah God's command (Psalms 83:18 speaks of God's real name), will wake those whom Jehovah deems. Be confident that your loved one remains in God's memory.

“ I remember Keith as a sweet-natured teenager at Union Baptist Church who was close to his big sister. Although it's been many years since I last saw him, I'm sure he remained the same as an adult.

To the Family and Loved Ones,
May you find comfort in the arms of the Holy Spirit during your time of grief. Jessica and Shawnte', know that to be absent from the body is to be present with the Lord. There is no place better. Be encouraged.##imported-begin##Kelly S. Earl##imported-end##

“ My heart has been heavy since I learned that Keith had passed. Keith was the first person I ever called my best friend, the person who introduced me to a host of people that I still hold close to my heart, and the person I told every thing to as a young adult. In our adult years, I was so proud of Keith for being the man he became. Hardworking and independent, but still humble and caring, and on top of it all - he still knew how to be silly and laugh. It breaks my heart that Keith is no longer here with us physically, but knowing that he's constantly looking over us all brings a comfort to me I can't describe. My thoughts and prayers are with the Cassell family and all the others who are currently grieving the passing of such a wonderful man....###imported-begin##Gail Bernal##imported-end##

“ Keith you are my cousin and I will forever love you. Our personal moments of laughter and times of trouble together, will never be forgotten.
POEM BY MICHELA WOLFE MCGHEE
After i take my last breath I will linger nearyby To witness those who love me And to hear their mourning cry
My spirit will remain In the midst of you all Until God's trumpet sounds Demanding my recall I will be at my funeral To hear each word And listen as you share stories That many have never heard I will stay nearby To watch you sleep And whisper in your ears That you should not weep Untill I leave you I shall anxiously await My glorious entrance Into the sacred Pearly Gates In Heaven I'll be busy For there is still much work to do I shall help my Dear God Prepare a place for you So don't say goodbye Though right now you cry For we"ll meet in Heaven ..Sweet by and by##imported-begin##Melva I. b. “ Miss Ernestine & Family,

There are not enough words in the English to express how we felt about Keith (Cayse always referred to him as "Keefy Weefy"). I will always treasure the many memories we have and remember the times he came to family cookouts and birthday parties. God is a good and merciful God and he will sustain you during your time of grief. We will continue to pray for you and the family.
