“To My Mother:

Words can not express the joy and the sadness we feel remembering how you sacrifice your world for us to have a happy life. Child rearing is challenging. You did your best on your own and although you may have felt a lack of gratitude when times were tough, please believe me when we say we are forever grateful. Our love for you has always been unconditional. Losing you is difficult, but we can take solace in the fact that you taught us by your example. Life's challenges are forever present, but what you gave us is invaluable. Your wisdom has seen us through good times and bad. You are our shining light. We love you and will miss you dearly,

Rest In Peace Mom,

Your Son's,
