“ Growing up, I had two best friends on Red Oak Drive, Jim Dintzner and Martin Voll. Martin was 3 grades older than me but he treated me like a peer (as much as 9 and 12 year olds do). It was just enough of an age gap that as you get older, time builds a barrier. What I remember is the morning he started junior high (I was starting 5th grade) and I went to his house and his mom at the back door had said he had already went to school (at Edgewood). I knew he was going to a different school but I didn't realize until that moment. I was quietly heartbroken that morning. I honestly don't think I talked to him again after that because that's what happens in your formative years. However, I never forgot he was nice person and a childhood friend, which you never forget.

To Ann, know that I have nice memories of Martin (as well as you) and I'm sorry for your loss.
