“ We have know and worked closely with Marvin for more than a decade. He died too soon and too young. Strong but gentle he was a hard worker - a pleasure to work alongside. Marvin was a problem solver with great ingenuity - there was no problem, no matter how unusual or complex that we could not solve together. We enjoyed many meals with Marvin - great conversations - he was always open, articulate and well informed providing insights not previously thought of. A generous man with simple pleasures, he was a devoted son. We will miss our good natured debates about sports and forgive him for being a Dallas Cowboys fan. RIP - Dave and Peggy Racicot
