Don't know him never seen him in his life. I just know a good visual presentation when I cross one. This one was excellent. I have no idea if it really sums his life. I could hear the birds chirping and the easy goings. It may not have been that way, but it was good for me.

What can I say? 30 years is too much to know where to begin. But I'm finding letters he wrote and hid in my apt that have given me sooooo much comfort. He did things his way and he could be the most caring person in the world. The way he wanted to be remember is in these letters and I take with me the comfort of knowing how much our love for each other was. I miss him but he is out of pain now. And that's the most important thing. Teri, I hope you know how much he has been looking forward to y'all being in each other's lives. He was almost child like after he talked to you. So you need to know how much he loved you. Boe was Boe and anyone knew him knows what I mean. Rest now Boe you were one of a kind.! And what we shared no one can ever deny.
