““Russ” was a great friend of ours for years. He spent times with us at home, cook outs, and socially. “Russ” always brought his great presence, his wit, his knowledge, and that beautiful smile with him no matter what. He was part of our family of friends. We were all brother and sister together, listened to one another and shared opinions, wisdoms, and help each other through the good and the bad. My husband and Russ shared views and opinions in their fields about being entrepreneurs in the business of landscaping, and loving it, contributing, cultivating into God's creation. “Russ” will forever be missed, but forever remembered.”
