“ I am so saddened to hear about his passing. It doesn't even seem real or even fair, having known Steven for quite some time. Steven was one of the few people who would come to one of my work places that I actually liked. To me he was more like part of the team. He was very respectful, kind and very humorous at times, too. His presence alone just made the environment feel more comforting. One day at work I just totally lost my patience and started punching some male patron. Steve sprang off his bar stool and immediately came to my rescue by restraining the guy. I was so angry. STEVE, the reason I never thanked you before was because honestly... I was mad at you too, for intervening. I saw your heart that day and I know you meant well. You are the reason I let off of him because I am not the type of person to attack someone restrained.(like police do!) SO I AM HEREBY THANKING YOU NOW FOR THE LOVE. I am really sad at this very moment knowing you are gone, but I truly believe that a person like you can only go to a better place. Like I know you are in a better place now. I am glad I met you in this life span. I miss you, buddy. Love, 'crazy' LENA

I am saddened to just find out about Steven passing. I have known him for quite some time. He was a true gentleman. He would come to an establishment I work where he was always welcome and he was more like 'part of the team' than just some customer. I actually liked him and really respected him. (Like he wasn't just average or below to me!) His presence made the atmosphere better. One time I really lost my patience with a customer and started punching him. I was so angry I just couldn't stop but Steven came to the rescue. Stephen immediately jumped off the bar stool and restrained the guy. (So nobody went to jail, got permanently fired or went to the hospital, etc;) I never thanked Steven because I was actually mad at him too for 'intervening'. STEVEN. I saw your heart that day and I HEREBY THANK YOU FOR THE LOVE. You will definitely be missed, buddy. I know you are in a better place now though, because that is the only place a person with a heart like yours can really go. I admire your soul.

*With love and respect,
'crazy' Lena.*
