

William Ross Wright

October 25, 1939 - January 7, 2026

A Life Lived Abundantly

Affectionally known as William-Ross or Ross, to his family, and Bill to most, William Ross Wright was born in South Hampton County Virginia on October 25, 1939. Bill spent his early days attending school, playing with his younger siblings, and helping out in the family store. He later married and moved to New York, where he started a family and resided until his retirement.

Because of Bill's innate analytical and critical thinking skills, he quickly became a manager for an electrical appliance manufacturing company. However, not wanting to move when the plant relocated, he began his career with the NYPD. He worked his way up to Detective 2nd grade and decided to retire a few years after being injured in the line of duty. Bill loved spending time with his family on their boat and was looking to retire in a home with private access to the water. He found the perfect place and settled in Chesapeake, Virginia in 1994.

With the freedom of retirement came the opportunity to explore other loves. One of those was O gauge trains. He started visiting Mike's Train Land and things took off from there. He became a member of the Eastern Division Train Collectors Association in January 1995. His fellow members held him in high regards. They described him as, the man with unbeatable knowledge, gifted, and a mastermind at the electrical components for this class of trains. He will also be remembered as kind and willing to help any and everyone. Bill spent many years traveling with the group to conferences, making custom layouts and running the trains for local events.

The Nottoway roots instilled in him by his maternal grandmother led him to research and reclaim his Nottoway heritage. Lineage was important to him; he would assist others in researching their tribal roots and opening the pathway to becoming tribal citizens. As War Chief for the Nottoway Indians of Virginia, he and the Tribal Council members proved the bloodline of the tribe still existed and gained State recognition on February 26, 2010. Until his death Bill remained the War Chief and assisted the tribe in true lineage growth by helping others trace and reclaim their Nottoway heritage. The tribe now has a Community House (Surry, VA), a website (nottowayindians.org), holds annual Powwows (the 3rd weekend in September), has published three books and have plans to seek Federal recognition in the future.

William Ross Wright, - Sunrise, October 25, 1939, Sunset, January 7, 2026 - is preceded in death by his mother, Thelma B. Sexton, father, Rufus Wright, stepfather Henry Sexton, Sr., wife, Jeanette G. Sexton, Anthony Wright and Tracy Wright, a stepsister, Elaine Ward, a loving partner, Jacqueline Smith, and a host of nieces, nephews and cousins.

Our dad was very special to us and showered us, and our children, with an abundance of love.

Our memories include, him attending Girl Scout Father Daughter dances, attending Peewee

Football games, unexpectedly picking us up from school, teaching us how to write checks and track our finances, watching him solve the latest puzzle game in record time, spending time

sitting on his pier crabbing, fishing and listening to him share stories of his life, and of course going to see him operate the trains at a local event. Dad/Pop loved flowers, plants and trees.

If you desire, please plant a tree or flowers in remembrance of him.

We love you and miss you. Coukkii, Lynell, Quincy, Billy, Terri and Pop

“ A Letter from Quintin

I'd like to say thank you to my sister Wanda and my brother Ross for being there with me during the planning of this service. I don't think I could have done it without you. The support and love I felt from them while in that room, is something I will always remember. I love you both.

I know at this time it's hard for anyone to smile, in this room, but I know two people that are smiling right now, my dad and my grandma. On January 7th at 2:07pm my dad's soul left his body and on January 7th at 2:08pm his soul was sent to heaven to be with her. He arrived at the door with a smile on his face knowing who was behind it. He knocked and the door opened and there she was, waiting with a smile and open arms to greet him. They went inside and sat at a table. On that table was newspaper and on that paper were crabs, something they both enjoyed. So as they sat there cracking crabs with Dad talking and Grandma stuttering back to him and he understanding every word she said. This is something I was not always able to do, understand what my grandma was saying. When I was young, I would sometimes ask Dad, "What did Grandma say Dad?" He'd look at me and say, "Grandma said to close her refrigerator and stop swinging on it until you know what you want out of there."

So now they sit at this table just talking and catching up. They're going to be there for a long time. Not just because they got a lot to say but also because Grandma is so excited to see Dad again that she's stuttering really bad and just taking longer to say it.

RIP Grandma RIP Dad

P.S. Save some crabs for the rest of us!

“ To Jacky & Family..... We are so sorry to hear of Bill's passing. We go back to the 90's for our friendship with Bill. He was one of the original members of the Train Club. My son & I joined the club then, Bill was so helpful to Chris and I. He was the ' Shell Answer Person ' in the club. Always made himself available to help anyone in the club either needing repairs or teaching. I had the pleasure of meeting his wonderful wife Jacky, a special lady. Please know that Sharon, I and Christopher will keep you in our thoughts and prayers. And know if we can support you in anything just call us. We luv you guys. Rest in peace Bill and get those trains running upstairs!
